FRIDAY, APRIL 23RD 2010

THOTCON hackers:

Have fun, drink up (if age >= 21), behave, and learn. Chicago finally has its own hacking con. The mission was to bring the security scene together at a place where we don't have to travel too far or spend a ton a cash. We think we accomplished our mission, but please let us know what we could do to make it better.

The goal of the day is that you have a good time, learn new hax, and go home happy (and safely). Thank you for coming and supporting THOTCON!

-The THOTCON Team

THOTCON drinking game

The rules are simple:

1) Prior to the con THOTCON staff will perform frequency analysis while watching videos of each presenters previous talks. From this effort they will select a secret word and associate it with each THOTCON talk.

2) Before each talk a THOTCON staff member will hold up a sign revealing the secret word to the audience and NOT the presenter.

3) Each time the presenter says the secret word. Drinking Game participants must drink. To make it interesting, the secret words will move from obscure to more common as the conference talks progress.

干杯!
